EDMONTON BULLETIN, NOVEMBER 29th, 1906

RESERVED LANDS.

The Free Press of Nov. 2nd, has another of its oft recurring articles on the BULLETIN and its editor. Obviously the article is on the question of reserved lands, which the BULLETIN discussed editorially a short time ago, but all that the Press finds to really say on this, which it calls "the great question," is to ask: "Does he (the editor of the BULLETIN) believe that those reserved lands should be taken back and held for free settlement?" In reply the BULLETIN begs to say that it does verily believe that all lands held reserved and remaining in the hands of the crown should be thrown open for settlement forthwith. That is to say, the so-called school lands and the odd numbered sections throughout the country yet remaining in the government's hands. As to the lands which have been alienated: it is merely a question of the necessity of purchase; the price that would have to be paid; and the propriety of using the money for that rather than for some other purpose that would tend to the development of the country. The BULLETIN will not support a proposition to buy back one acre—of railroad land for instance—as long as one acre of public land is held reserved. There are also a number of little matters to be settled in regard to these railroad lands that would affect the staying powers of one or the other parties to the bargain, before negotiations could properly be entered into. And when these were settled it might be found more advantageous to legislate as favorably to the country as possible in regard to these lands, and use the money that would be required for their purchase to build developing and competing railways, such as our immense grants of land in aid of railways have not yet secured us.

The Press asks: How are the lands already granted to railways to be taken back? "By confiscation! The government have no more right to resume control of those lands without the consent of their owners than they have to drive a settler off his homestead."—(Incidentally it may be remarked that the latter act was not by any means unknown under the late government—just an extension of the principle of the all prevailing system of reserves).—The Press is at fault in its law. Compulsory change in the ownership of land under the statutes is an everyday occurrence, on a small scale, and that it has at times been effected on a very large scale is a matter of Canadian history which may repeat itself, when the progress and welfare of the country requires. The owners of the Press have so long been accustomed to dictate what shall be done in Canada that that paper has forgotten that other things may be done than have of late years been customary. To put the matter a little more plainly. The question of the government resuming the ownership of the vacant lands in the Northwest is not a question in which the C. P. R. necessarily or legally has anything to say in the last resort. The first question to be decided is: What lands legally belong to the C. P. R. and other railway companies. That is the question the West wants the new government to settle forthwith. When that is settled will be time enough to discuss what shall be done with them.

A copy of the Seaforth, Ont., Expositor of a recent issue has been handed the BULLETIN with a request for notice of a letter appearing in it written by W. T. Gemmell, who is apparently engaged as a school teacher somewhere near Edmonton, and is giving his first impressions of the country and its people to his admiring and wondering friends and relatives in the far famed county of Huron. If the people who first settled in that county had looked at pioneer life as Mr. Gemmell does it would still have been a wilderness instead of one of the finest in Canada, and if their sons had all been of his mind and inclinations they would not have played the important and honorable part they have in the peopling and development of Manitoba and the great West. Mr. Gemmell is evidently a gentleman, who, figuratively speaking, is gifted with very tender feet and a swelled head. No doubt feeling homesick he looks at the wrong side of everything, and makes a wonder and a scare out of very ordinary conditions. The concluding sentence of his letter is: "You will see that I am not altogether in love with the country, in fact, I have yet to find the man who is. I know of no one here, who, if he could get his money back that he invested here, would not seek pastures new." This is a strong statement, and appearing in an influential paper in an important section of Ontario is likely to do this district, where the writer of it is at the time making his living, a great deal of harm. How silly the insinuation is may be judged from the fact that at least three fourths of the settlers of this district came here without money. What they have, whether much or little, they made right here. They have lost nothing for they had nothing to lose. The vast majority of those who have deserved have achieved fair success. That there are disadvantages incident to pioneer life everyone will admit. If there were not it would not be pioneering. It is in the existence of these present disadvantages that the opportunity for advancement on the part of the early settler exists. If the country were all under cultivation, if the railroad rates were right, and the ultimate markets attained, the settler would have no more advantage here than he has in Ontario where his advantages at the present time are said to be not too evident. It is in the process of the improvement of the conditions surrounding him that the settler makes his profit. The men who went into the bush of the country of Huron when they had not half the advantages of the Edmonton district were the men who made money,—far more money than their successors who are surrounded with all the advantages of civilization are making. The idea that because a country is not developed it is not good, is the falsest kind of an idea, and it is one that is too prevalent in Canada. It is not in the final development, but in the opportunity for development and in the work and processes of development that the advantage lies. If Mr. Gemmell and others will grasp this great truth they will then be in a position to discuss more profitably the advantages and disadvantages of a new country.

INDIAN DAY SCHOOLS.

MR. EDITOR.

A live issue in the formative history of education is the day school institution. It is expected that the new minister of the interior will give special attention to an improved system of education for Indians. It is also expected that those who have been closely connected with, and are interested in Indian education, will speak and write freely on this question.

Perhaps it is well in the beginning to ask, "Are the Indians in the near future likely to be civilized in toto, or for the most part, or will the majority remain on reserves as wards of the Government for all time to come?" Let the eastern provinces sum up the case as to Indian citizenship there; and let the west form some judgment from the past twenty years. Citizenship is a comprehensive term—privilege of voting for public office, qualification to fill offices in the gift of the people, protection in the enjoyment of the so-called private rights. The degree of progress in society and in the individual leading up to citizenship, though attainable, is far-reaching. North American civilization places in each district a day school for the masses, to be supported by them. The day school is the institution for the people as a whole. Who dares to interfere with it? In the poorest and most sparsely settled neighborhood it is encouraged alike by government and ratepayers. It is the local training school to which the youth from every home may go. The genius of our civilization builds a school at our doors. The government now aims to make the tribes self-supporting; in a word, to civilize them. The process of civilizing is going on locally within reservations, in the presence of and in relation to every resident family. Where is the philosophy or the consistency in bartering the local institution of learning, this very important factor in the civilizing process, from the precincts of a reserve? A scheme of radical reformation, or change in the management of day schools, or combination of mental and industrial training, is in harmony with the scope of our educational system; but a recession from the underlying principle is not the idea of an educationist! It is not in this case, the idea of a wide-awake practical far-seeing man. If the element of education is to be left out on reserves, in the effort to civilize, then the policy is surely one sided. Where is the elimination to end? With equal force it might be held that butter making as a civilizing industry, should be thrown out of the list; or that the cultivation of wheat by Indians, should be abandoned. It is manifestly a false position in which to be, that a British colony tacitly recognizing the two elements of our civilization—individual and social progress, embracing the basal institution of day schools—should take the ground that in practice these schools must be abolished altogether, even amongst the aborigines. In the sequel it is proposed to discuss any alleged reasons for elimination.

I am yours truly,
E. B. GLASS.

KOOTENAY TRADE.
Mr. Cowie's report to board of trade.
MARKET QUOTATIONS.
The Spokesman Review, published daily in Spokane, gives market quotations regularly, and, I was assured, pretty accurately. The quotations should be obtained (by subscribing for the paper, if our local press does not copy them, for the general benefit) by those who contemplate shipping to the Kootenay. At the time of my visit to Rossland the following wholesale quotations appeared in the issue of 10th Sept. '96.

Wheat—
No. 1, club in bulk, 34c, sacked 36c.
No. 1, blue stem, 36c, " 38c.
Flour, $2.75.
(Note. Many Americans will not use the Manitoba flour, preferring that produced from the soft wheat to which they have been accustomed.)

Poultry—
Spring chickens, dozen, $3 to $3.25.
Turkeys, live, lb., 10c to 10 1/2c.
Turkeys dressed, lb., 11c to 12 1/2c.

Oats, milling, " " $13.50 to $14.
Chicken feed, " " $14 to $16.
Timothy hay, " " $9.
Grain hay, " " $8.

Produce—
Butter creamery, 40-lb. tub, lb., 18c.
" 10, 15 & 20 tub, lb., 20c.
Butter, country rolls, lb., 10c to 12c.
Cheese twin skin milk, lb., 6c.
Cheese full cream, lb., 10c to 11c.
Eggs, per case of 3 doz., $3.75 to $4.00.
There are good local newspapers published at all important mining centres in the Kootenay, but they do not give market quotations on produce.

ROUTES TO AND THROUGH WEST KOOTENAY.
A study of a map of the Kootenay will elucidate this description and show that the Columbian river and its expansions, the upper and lower Arrow lakes lie, north and south and nearly parallel to the Kootenay lake from which they are divided by a mountainous country 40 miles wide, in the middle of which lie the smaller Slocan lake and river running in the same north and south direction. This intervening country is crossed by railways from Nakusp to Kaslo via Sandon and from Robson to Nelson.

From the United States—The Spokane Falls and Northern railway and the Nelson & Fort Sheppard railway run daily except Sunday (10 hours run) between Spokane and Nelson. Passengers for Rossland connect at Northport with stage and for Trail with steamboat daily. (Note. The new railway from Northport direct to Rossland is probably now running.) At Nelson close connections are made with steamers for Kaslo and all Kootenay lake points. From Kaslo to Sandon and intermediate points there is a daily train on the Kaslo & Slocan (Narrow Gauge) railway. This is owned by Americans and is intensely hostile to C. P. R. Steamboats also run from Bonner's Ferry on the Great Northern railway to points on Kootenay lakes.

From the Canadian side—The C. P. R. despatch from Revelstoke to Arrowhead a train every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon, connecting at Arrowhead with the Columbia & Kootenay Steam Navigation Co's boat, which leaves Arrowhead at 7 and arrives at Nakusp at 11 the same night and at Robson at 9 a. m. and Trail at 2 p. m. next day.

From Nakusp—The Nukusp and Slocan branch of the C. P. R. runs a train Mondays Wednesdays and Fridays to Summit, Slocan lake, Roseberry (from whence steamers run down to Slocan city and other Slocan lake points) New Denver, Alama, Concentrator, Three Forks and Sandon, where connection is made with the Kaslo and Sandon railway to and from Kaslo. As before mentioned a transfer car lingo has been put on between Arrowhead and Nakusp. This section of the Kootenay—the Slocan—appears to be the nearest and best market for our products.

From Robson—The Columbia and Kootenay branch of the C. P. R. runs trains on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays to Nelson, making close connections there with steamboats on the Kootenay lake.

From Trail the Columbia and Western (Narrow Gauge) railway runs a passenger train twice every week day and once on Sunday to Rossland. The freight rates ($5 per ton on hay and vegetables) on this line, which is not controlled by the C. P. R., makes competition with such American produce out of the question on completion of direct railway connection between Rossland and the States.

SOURCES OF INFORMATION.
I have to gratefully acknowledge my indebtedness for valuable information willingly furnished, notably by Mr. Johnstone, H. M. collector of customs, Nelson; Mr. Brewster, late C. P. R. agent, Revelstoke; Mr. Morton C. P. R. agent, Arrowhead; Mr. Sibbald, president board of trade, Revelstoke; Mr. Thos. Wilson, for the board of trade, Trail; Mr. W. T. Thompson, editor of the "News," Trail; Mr. Dickson, late of South Edmonton, Nelson; Mr. Hanson, proprietor of the Slocan hotel, Nelson. Also by the following dealers in produce: Sibbald & Pease, Revelstoke; Bourne Bros., Revelstoke, Nakusp and New Denver; Crawford & Co., (of which Mr. McMillan late of South Edmonton is a member), Sandon; J. N. Rankin, (late conductor on C. & E. railway,) Kaslo; J. F. Kennedy, Kaslo; D. W. Moore, Kaslo; Hyde, Tisworth & Co., Nelson; J. Robson, manager H. B. Co., Nelson; Thos. Wilson, Trail; Hunter Bros., Rossland; Smith & Thomas, Rossland. In this connection I may add that Mr. A. B. Gray, commission agent at Nelson, was recommended to me at Victoria.

The Minister of Fisheries has granted ten days' extension of time for fishing in Lac La Biche and other lakes to the north of the Saskatchewan and its tributaries, in view of the representations that there was likely to be a depletion among the halfbreeds and non-treaty Indians. The concession is intended to allow them to lay in a stock of food for winter.

SUPREME COURT.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 4.

Queen vs. Andrew Coghlan. Charged with having started the fire which destroyed his residence on Horse Hill plain, last summer. Trial before the judge alone. Beck, Q. C., for the crown. Bown for defendant. A large number of witnesses were examined on both sides with the result that the accused was discharged on Thursday afternoon.

Queen vs. Richard Fischer. Charged with having shot at his wife, some of the shot striking her. Trial before the judge alone. The prisoner pleaded guilty and was released on suspended sentence. Beck, Q. C., for the crown.

Queen vs. Mrs. Pierre Grey. Charged with perjury and subornation of perjury in connection with the Island lake murder case. The jury were sworn. H. Martin, Fred Ross, Turnbull Allen, H. F. Greenwood, John E. Graham and Jos. Brunelle. Dr. McInnis was examined for the prosecution and a number were examined for the defence, who gave evidence as to the good character of the accused. The jury brought in a verdict of guilty with a strong recommendation to mercy. The sentence was three months in the common jail. The sentence was so light because the accused, an Indian woman, was unlearned and unacquainted with the responsibilities imposed by law.

To-day's court.

Queen vs. T. R. Haddon. Charged with having obtained $18 on false representation from R. S. Cunliffe. He had sold some pigs which were under chattel mortgage to Cunliffe for that sum. The judge held that the evidence as to the purchase of the pigs did not prove that any misrepresentation in fact was made that the pigs were unincumbered. The proper remedy of the purchaser was on an implied warranty of title. Case dismissed. Beck, Q. C., for crown. Bown for defence.

Queen vs. T. R. Haddon. Obtaining $200 from Imperial bank under false representations. Defendant had borrowed the money from the bank on chattel mortgage security stating that he was going to the old country to raise money to pay off all his indebtedness. The prosecution claim that some of the articles mortgaged were not his property and that he was going to South Africa and not to England.

THE WHEAT SITUATION.

Winnipeg Commercial, Nov. 2. There is no question but that the wheat situation is a strong one, and indications have not for years been so favorable for higher prices. The late advance in wheat in its early stages was a legitimate one, and was based on actual conditions favorable to an advance. Then came a few days of wild excitement and a very rapid advance, which produced a top heavy condition and led to the inevitable collapse. This wild excitement and rapid advance was the worst thing the market could experience, as in the reaction which followed, prices were carried down to below what the market conditions would warrant. Prices were coming along very nicely. The market was advancing quite fast enough and might have kept on slowly appreciating for some time. If the "boom" which started on Saturday, October 17, and kept during the early days of the following week, had not set in and unsettled every thing. At the time of writing the market has not yet shown much evidence of recovery, but we believe it will recover and we look for a firm market on this crop. The great political contest in the United States, which has now almost reached a crisis, draws attention from wheat for the present, but it cannot alter actual conditions, and these things have cooled down a bit, there should be an improvement in wheat.

CREAMERY AID.

In those districts where creameries are already established, and where the owners, or farmers who are patrons, desire to put them under the charge of the government for a few years until the business is well established, modifications of the foregoing plan may be made to meet the conditions and requirements of each case.

In cases where the owners, or patrons of such creameries desire to transfer the management to the government for a few years, under this plan, they should send to the agricultural and dairy commissioner, a full statement showing:

Numbers of patrons, cows, etc.:

1. Quantity of butter manufactured during the season in which the creamery last was in operation. . . lbs. in 189 . . .
2. Quantity of milk and cream severely received, milk, . . .
3. The number of patrons supplying milk or cream. . .
4. The number of routes on which milk or cream was collected by paid collectors. 5. The distance from the creamery, of the furthest patron. 6. The number of cows in the district from which milk could likely be obtained, under the government management, cows in 1897.

7. The size of the creamery building giving separately the sizes of the different rooms. Making room in feet, cream and churning room.
8. The material used in construction, the thickness of the walls, the materials used for the floors.
9. The size and construction of the ice house in feet; do. of the refrigerator in feet.
10. The number and size of the various parts of the machinery and utensils, such as: Boiler, engine, horse power; centrifugal separator, belt or turbine, name of maker, capacity of milk per hour; milk vat, cream vat, weighing scales, churns, butter workers, milk testers, oil-test shurn, other utensils.

11. The condition of repair in which the utensils are, the length of time they have been used, name of the firm or factory from which they were purchased.
12. The number of skimming stations.
13. If any, the distance from the creamery.
14. The size of building.
15. The material used in construction.
16. The equipment.
The foregoing may be filled up with particulars of the buildings, machinery and utensils, and sent to the agricultural and dairy commissioner, Ottawa.

It is recommended that the capital stock of each association consist of shares of one dollar each, and that the number of shares be not less than four thousand.

LACOMBE LINKS.

On last Thursday night the boys banqueted Mr. Froste and spent a jolly evening.

On the same night there was a dance and supper in the old Thompson house. Miss Tweddle from London, England, arrived on Monday's train on a visit to her sister Mrs. Geo. McNeil.

I see by the BULLETIN that apples are selling as low as $5.50 per barrel in Edmonton. They have been selling here in Lacombe for some time at $5 per barrel. And good ones too.

Mr. John Beatty is putting a wing onto his dwelling house.

The Christian endeavor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church held a free social on Wednesday evening of last week to which the Epworth League of the Methodist church were invited and at which Mrs. Froste was presented with an address (she being one of the most active members of the Endeavor society) in which they expressed their regret at her leaving and their best wishes for the future of herself and husband, to which Mr. Froste made a brief reply.

The first snow of any account we have had, fell yesterday and last night during which time some two or three inches has fallen, air being colder and some wind.

Rev. J. Dyke B. D., agent for the Upper Canada Bible society, arrived in town yesterday and gave an address at the annual meeting of the Lacombe branch, which was held in the Methodist church last evening. The attendance was small owing to it being such a blustery evening. The amount of sales at the branch was very satisfactory considering the length of time it has been established.

Winnipeg Commercial Nov. 2: Business in oats has continued very slow on account of the light offerings. Only a few cars were offered on track here, and they were held at 25 to 26c per bushel of 34 pounds. These were old oats. A lot held in store in the city of good old oats sold at 25c. There were no new offers, except a few farmer's loads, which were taken at 16 to 20c. per bushel, as to quality, which averages poor. In eastern Canada markets there has been a considerable decline in prices so that shipments could not be made east at prices quoted here, but there are a few cars going to lumbering and other points along the north shore of Lake Superior. Holders of old oats are very independent and firm, in view of the poor crop and poor quality of the new crop.

Alberta Tribune: "The residence of Dr. Lafferty, on Centre street, was the scene of an interesting event on Wednesday evening when his sister Miss Janet was married to Mr. James Short B. A. of the firm of McGill and Short, barristers, Calgary. Rev. J. C. Herdman performed the ceremony in the presence of a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. Both the bride and the groom were formerly teachers in the Calgary schools. Mr. Short has been principal before he took up the study of law, and has a large circle of friends who unite in congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Short have taken their residence on first street, near the Bow river. The groom is a brother of Wm. Short, barrister, Edmonton.
